TAX LIMITATION BILL MEANS GRADUAL RISE

If there has been doubt in the mind of any voter about the wisdom of the tax-limitation amendment, it should have been removed by the events of the past few days.

The budgets of proposed expenditures for next year have been made up by the state and by the City of Portland. The budgets call for expenditures way in excess of anything which has been attempted before. Every state institution has asked for big increases in appropriations, except one. The one institution which does not ask for an increase is the East Oregon Insane Asylum, located at Pendleton. Every other institution asks for big increases. Do our public officials feel that the taxpayers can afford to pay unlimited taxes? What is to become of the state if this annual increase does not stop. How can anyone afford to pay the bills. It is an outrage to ask the taxpayers for big increases in appropriations when it is so hard to get money. Taxes should be decreasing these times, not increasing.

But there is one big consolation for the taxpayer. It is unanimously agreed that tax-limitation will carry by an overwhelming majority. Every one admits it. This simply means that regardless of how high the state institutions or the legislature try to increase our taxes they will fail. There is a highwater mark above which they can not go. They cannot make our taxes for next year more than six per cent over this year's taxes. The same is true of the city or Portland. If the tax limitation amendment carries, and it surely will carry then the commissioners of the city of Portland will have to reduce their proposed expenditures ten per cent.

WATCH FOR BANDS ON WILD DUCKS KILLED

If you will or capture a wild duck bearing an aluminum band around one leg, having a number on one side, on the other a statement requesting that the United States department of agriculture, or the biological survey, be notified, you are requested to send this band at once to the bureau of biological survey, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. This band if accompanied by a statement as to date, place and circumstances under which the bird was taken, will be of service to the survey in its efforts to determine the longevity of individual ducks and the routes of migration of the species. The bands are being attached to considerable numbers of wild duck of several species which have been cured of the duck sickness prevalent around Great Salt Lake, Utah, and there released. The department is particularly anxious to secure reports from these birds to determine their complete recovery from this malady which has killed hundreds of thousands of ducks in Utah.—Capital News.

It All Depends.
"If Hughes wins an Oregon town will get a new shingle mill employing fifty men," says the Olympia Recorder, "according to an announcement of the individual who took an option on timbered land. If Wilson wins the option will be allowed to lapse. That's the way with a thousand and one enterprises, all waiting to see which way the wind blows. The moment it is assured that Charles E. Hughes is elected, just watch the wheels of industry spin and listen to the hum of business."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS FROM SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE OF CHARLES E. HUGHES.

It is apparent that we are shockingly unprepared.

When we contemplate industrial and commercial conditions, we see that we are living in a fool's paradise.

Not only have we a host of resources short of war by which to enforce our just demands, but we shall never promote our peace by being stronger in words than in deeds.

We are neither deceived nor benumbed by abnormal conditions. We know that we are in a critical period, perhaps more critical than any period since the civil war.

The administration utterly failed to perform its obvious duty to secure protection for the lives and property of our citizens. It is most unworthy to slur those who have investments in Mexico in order to escape a condemnation for the nonperformance of this duty.

It is only through international co-operation giving a reasonable assurance of peace that we may hope for the limitation of armaments.

We have determined to cut out, root and branch, monopolistic practices, but we can do this without hobbling enterprise or narrowing the scope of legitimate achievement.

We demand a simple, business-like budget.

I believe it is only through a responsible budget, proposed by the executive, that we shall avoid financial waste.

We have had brave words in a series of notes, but, despite our protests, the lives of Americans have been destroyed.

WILSON FLEXIBILITY.

We do not see why there should have been any stir in the senate over the discovery that President Wilson has completely reversed himself in the matter of the proposed child labor law. Senator Borah was able to show that Mr. Wilson described this legislation in his "Constitutional Government" as unconstitutional, an "obviously absurd extravagance," carrying the congressional power to regulate commerce beyond the "utmost bounds of reasonable and honest inference" and making it possible, if sustained, for congress to legislate over "every particular of the industrial or ganization and action of the country." That, we must confess, has also been the Evening Post's view. But the Evening Post and Senator Borah are old fogies, dating back to the time when it was the custom to have fixed beliefs and principles and stick to them. The senator has evidently not read Mr. Wilson's letter in explaining his change of front on the tariff commission—that it is only a narrow man, whose mind is stupidly closed to new ideas, who does not alter his opinions. By this test Mr. Wilson is obviously one of the broadest minded men this country has ever produced, for he has changed his mind to date on the initiative, referendum, recall, woman suffrage, the tariff commission, tariff for revenue only, a permanent diplomatic service beyond politics, the merit system in the civil service, the proper place of Tammany Hall in the scheme of the universe, child labor legislation, preparedness, Bryan, a continental army—but why continue? It is a long enough list to prove that Mr. Wilson's political views are not fossilized by any fear of inconsistency.—New York Evening Post.

ADEQUATE NATIONAL DEFENSE DEMANDED

We demand adequate national defense: adequate protection on both our western and eastern coasts. We demand thoroughness and efficiency in both arms of the service. It seems to be plain that our regular army is too small. We are too great a country to require of our citizens who are engaged in peaceful vocations the sort of military service to which they are now called. As well insist that our citizens in this metropolis be summoned to put out fires and police the streets. We do not count it inconsistent with our liberties, or with our democratic ideals, to have an adequate police force. With a population of nearly 100,000,000 we need to be surer of ourselves than to become alarmed at the prospect of having a regular army which can reasonably protect our border, and perform such other military service as may be required. In the absence of a grave emergency, I believe, further, that there should be not only a reasonable increase in the regular army, but that the first citizen reserve subject to call should be enlisted as a federal army and trained under federal authority.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

WITH PULPIT AND PEW

BAPTIST.

The business meeting Wednesday evening, October 4th was well attended and enjoyed by all present. The address given by Rev. F. E. Dark of Caldwell, Idaho, on the topic: "Spiritualizing the Finances of the Church," was the best presentation of the financial question that has been given to our people for years. The election of officers for another year, and other business was transacted with much interest. At the close of the service refreshments were served by the ladies. All went away feeling that it was the best meeting of its kind for some time.

Last Sunday was a good day for us. Just before the sermon in the morning Mr. John Cotton of Sweet, Idaho, and Mrs. Tillie Pierce of Ontario, were united in marriage in the presence of a large concourse of friends. The evening service was well attended with much interest in the evangelistic move for the unsaved in the community. One manifested an interest in their souls salvation.

Topics for next Sunday at 11 a. m., "Full Manhood in Christ." 7:30 p. m., "The Primitive Church and the Perennial Revival."

The public is invited to attend these services.

D. E. BAKER, Pastor.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

The Sunday school board of the M. E. church met in the church Tuesday evening and transacted the business necessary to the coming year.

The following officers and teachers were elected: Superintendent, A. L. McDowell; assistant superintendent, Mrs. Abernathy; Bible class Mrs. Haldeman; Philathes, Mrs. A. G. Moore; Wesley Boys, C. McGonigal; Live Wire, Mrs. D. M. Taggart; Sunbeams, Irene Pratt; Bethany, Mrs. Hunter; Little Workers, Mrs. C. C. Crane; Little Blossom, Maud Marsden; Beginners, Fay Pratt; Secretary Grace Beeson; treasurer, Ray Winterud; librarian, Mary Atherton; pianist, Irene Pratt.

Evangelist Mills will begin special evangelistic meetings in the M. E. church Friday evening, Oct. 13th. The general public are cordially invited to enjoy these meetings. Rev. Mills has enjoyed considerable success in other places, let us see to it that we make his visit to our city a great blessing.

C. C. PRATT, Pastor.

THERE SHOULD BE NO ACTION UNDER PRESSURE, UNDER DICTATION.

"We have one priceless treasure in this country, and that is the reign of good judgment after public discussion. In the long history of the people, victory after victory has been won over tyranny and force. We have a free press, we have a free form of public discussion, to the end that there may be a general understanding of our activities and a general appreciation of what is necessary to the improvement of our conditions. We may disagree about this measure or that, but we have confidence in the public judgment in the long run. Hence there is one thing which we must always maintain, and that is that there shall be no action on the part of our elected representatives, taken under pressure, under dictation. We must know what the facts are and what justice requires."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

NO ONE WAS AFRAID OF HAITI.

Haiti did not behave as badly to us as Mexico behaved; but Mr. Wilson intervened, fought the Haitians, shedding their blood and the blood of our troops, took possession and now has our armed forces in control of Haiti and directing its government. His course of action in Haiti can be defended only if his course of action in Mexico is unqualifiedly condemned; for such action was far more needed in Mexico than in Haiti. But there was a difference in the two cases; and to Mr. Wilson it was a vital difference. Haiti was weaker than Mexico. No one was afraid of Haiti.—From the Speech of Colonel Roosevelt Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

The President says that he is above all things else "an American citizen." Fortunately for him, nothing has taken him to Europe or Mexico during the past few years.
